9th Day of the biggest Hunger Strike in History

Land's No. 1

A desperate fight is now raging, Brave Men for a long rest are laid. Amongst ^{them} is brave Dinis Lacey, O.C. of 5th Tipp. Bde.
In the Republican plot he lies sleeping with his comrades Mc Donagh and Breen. Likewise that brave Soldier Pake Dalton who fought for White Orange and Green. On their Souls may the great God have Mercy, for fighting for freedom, If the Foe's of land can't be beaten may we all rest in Tipp by their side

Oh the line shall run red with reduncane of blood, The earth shall rock beneath thy tread,
And flames up hill & wood.
And gun peal and slogan cry,
Wake many a glen serene,
Ere you shall fade.
Ere you shall die

A mans first duty is to God
His second is to his Country.

Full many a flower is born to blush unseen And waste its sweetness on the 9th Day of our glorious battle. Tintown No 3

Oct. 27th 1923.

Dark though the night be, the dawn is appearing Emerging from clouds, silverhued & steel-gray, Victory is certain, the end is now nearing
All of us watching, and waiting the day.
Leader & lover of Ireland, We hail thee, done Earnest hearts bless the good work you have,
Right against might, We swear never to fail thee Until the battle for Ireland is won.

To labour in defence of right
For God and home to make a stand,
To carry on the grand old fight For Freedom, Faith, and Fatherland.

Death in its coming

Across the grey stormy billows of life the white calm of Eternity is remning the waterline coming to meet me.

Hark: I hear the signal, the Black pilot-boat heaves in sight. Death will soon take the helm and steer my little barque safely into anchor, into God's White Calm.
