KILBOY GRAVEYARD

This graveyard was in the Civil Parish of Dolla in Upper Ormond. It is situated in the grounds of Kilboy House, the former demesne of the Prittie family, Barons Dunally, some of whom are buried in it.

The graveyard contains the ruins of a 15th century church which still boasts a fine east window and well preserved piscina.

There are 56 inscribed headstones, all of which have been deciphered.

The oldest inscription is that to the memory of one John Walsh, who died in 1763, unfortunately his age is undecipherable.

Three other headstones date from 1790.

A few of the headstones are too badly broken or weathered to read, in these cases the missing words are indicated thus -----.
