COUNTY TIPPERARY

SECTION C: BARONY OF OWNEY AND ARRA

VOLUME 11: PARISH OF KILLOSCULLY

COMPILED BY DENISE FOULKES

ORMOND HISTORICAL SOCIETY, 1986

INTRODUCTION

The civil parish of KILLOSCULLY lies in the barony of Owney and Arra and contains over 7,000 statute acres. The terrain is mountainous and includes Slieve Ciamaltha/Keeper Hill at 2,279.

It is now part of the Roman Catholic parish of Ballinahinch-Killoscully in the Archdiocese of Cashel and Emly, and of Killaloe Church of Ireland Union.

The graveyard surrounds the Catholic church situated in the village of Killoscully which lies a short distance off the Nenagh to Newport road via Shallee Crossroads.

The church has an inscribed plaque which reads:

'To the Most Sacred Heart of Jesus.

Erected by Revd. Joseph McKeogh, P.P. 1874'.

The oldest gravestone is that to a Cornelius Cormick, who died in 1742. Quite a few stones date from the late 1700s and early 1800s.

There are four early gravestones commemorating priests - Rev. Laurentius Ryan, 1760; Rev. Edward Butler, 1802; Rev. Thomas Cooke, 1807 and Rev. Thomas ?Morrissey who died of fever in 1821. Three of these inscriptions are in latin.

Also of note are the number of stones erected by exiles in America or Australia over their deceased parents and immediate families.

The two predominant names in the graveyard are Gleeson and Ryan - the latter with thirty-five inscriptions in all.

All the gravestones that could be found have been transcribed. Where it has proved impossible to decipher a word it has been recorded thus: ----. Where a date is in doubt it is recorded ?1830, ?1850, with the more likely date first.

Denise Foulkes,
Ormond Historical Society, 1987.
