COUNTY TIPPERARY

SECTION C: BARONY OF OWNEY AND ARRA

VOLUME 3: PARISH OF TEMPLEACHALLY

(a) BALLINA R.C. CHURCH

COMPILED BY DENISE FOULKES

ORMOND HISTORICAL SOCIETY, 1988

INTRODUCTION

The civil parish of TEMPLEACHALLY, wherein lies the village of BALLINA, lies in the barony of OWNEY and ARRA. In the Church of Ireland division it is united with KILMASTULLA parish and is part of the KILLALOE UNION. The parish, together with part of Kilmastulla, forms the R.C. parish of BALLINA-BOHER which lies in the diocese of Cashel and Emly.

It has as its western boundary, a large stretch of the River Shannon and Lough Derg that river's largest lake. In extent it is about 9,000 acres.

The land was owned, in the main, by the O'Briens and McKeoghs when the Civil Survey was taken in 1654. Their survival in the area is reflected in the number of gravestones bearing these names.

Templeachally is also the traditional place of origin of the O'Hickeys, physicians to the O'Briens of Thomond.

The principal graveyard in the parish is that adjoining its pre-Reformation church ruin. This lies on the Birdhill road a short distance from Ballina village. There is also a burial area attached to the R.C. church.

The main graveyard is very large and somewhat unkempt. Over 220 gravestones, many of which were broken, deeply buried or badly weathered, were located and transcribed. A number of inscriptions transcribed by Maurice Lenihan, editor/proprietor of the Tipperary Vindicator & Limerick Report and author of a history of Limerick, could not be found by the present compiler (D.F.) The Lenihan ones as published have been included at the back of this book.

The gravestones vary in age from the early 1700s to the present day. The earliest is that erected to commemorate a JOHN GUERIN who died in 1736 aged 80 - so he was born in 1650. This is followed by one to a MAT GIAHAM who died in 1740 aged only 37. JOHN LEO, who died in 1789 aged 97 years, is the oldest recorded age in the graveyard.

The Rev. Patrick McKeogh, a parish priest of the parish who died in 1760, is the earliest recorded one.

There are a number of unusual names on the gravestones, such as CLOON, CORDUE, GRAHAN, GULLY and IVIS.

There are 22 stones for the McKeogh family - spelt as McKeough and McKough. There are 19 for the O'Brien name who just outnumber the Ryans who have 15.

Some of the gravestones were unusually difficult to decipher. Where a date is uncertain it is recorded thus: ?1815, ?1845 with the most likely date first. Where a word could not be read it is recorded thus: ---.

The gravestones with pre-1900 inscriptions located in the burial ground beside the R.C. church were also transcribed.
